O. , 2006. LC Number: KF26 . F662 2005 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)70637968 Subject: United States -- Foreign relations -- Middle East. Excerpt: . . . 11 energy efficiency, and conservation, two quick ways of becoming - reducing our dependency, becoming more efficient, and encouraging conservation. Domestic production. Yes. We must increase oil and gas produc-tion and we must take advantage of other energy resources, includ-ing renewable and nuclear. Energy security is obviously a corner-stone of our policy. We must be prepared and ready to provide strong assurance of protection against a severe supply disruption. We have seen some of the impacts based on Hurricanes Katrina and Rita, in terms of the delicate U. S. energy balance. The Depart-ment of Energy, or DOE, works through many cooperative arrange-ments and agreements to promote greater energy security. Here in our own region, working with Mexico and Canada through the North American Energy Working Group we are seeking to increase the reliability by integrating our systems. We are working with many other partners throughout the region, including the Gulf of Guinea that we think has the potential to play a greater role. I want to emphasize that diversifying energy sources through al-ternative energy sources is very important. Renewable can and should play a greater role. We have many international relation-ships, including IEA, or International Energy Agency. We have a United States-Africa Energy Ministerial process. There is a Sum-mit of America process. There are international agreements, also, through the IEA, over 30, looking at advanced energy sources. Energy diplomacy remains very important, because it is a key element in...
