Excerpt: . . . 11 needed fiscal year 1999 - 2006 to address the deficiencies for a sys-tem that was projected to cost 100 million when fully oper-68 ational. According to GAO, the case control management system suffers serious weaknesses and will be far more difficult to fix than DSS anticipates. During the September 2000 NSVAIR Subcommittee hearing, addressing the CCMS issue, the Director of DSS stated, there were dramatic improvements resulting from the software en-hancements and corrections that have been implemented within 69 the last 6 months. Yet the DOD - IG in December 2000 rec-ommended the Assistant Secretary of Defense-C3I analyze whether the investment for the Case Control Management System provides the best business solution when compared to alternative solutions for opening, tracking, and closing personnel investigation cases. The Defense Security Service is making progress since the sub-committees oversight investigation of the agency began a little more than 2 years ago. However, DSS has a long way to go to re-solve systemic problems of...
