By some of these methods conclusions have been reached which are recognized as valuable acquisitions to the store of useful knowledge, while by other methods, conclusions have been reached which have never gained wide recognition and which have remained independent of the general evolution of thought. We may hope to benefit by our experience with thinking and by a comparative study of past efforts, may discover principles which will guide us to fruitful results in the future. The purpose of this thesis is to study a number of typical theories in science and philosophy, to compare and classify them, to analyze the method of procedure in each, to consider the simplicity, believability and usefulness of each; and thus to draw conclusions as to the comparative value of the different methods used in deriving the theories. The theories considered will be: Darwin s - Origin of Species, Hyslop s - Science and a...
